FOUND GUILTY OF STRIKING CHILD

Maitland Palmer, a rural mail carrier, was found guilty by Judge Maxfield in the municipal court this morning of assault and battery. Palmer was arrested after it was alleged he struck Susie Fisher, aged eight years in the face while she was on her way to school.

Several witnesses were called and during the taking of the testimony it developed that the children of both families have been quarreling for several weeks. Palmer was accused of striking the girl in the face with his hand and also slightly blackening her eye.

On the testimony offered he was found guilty by Judge Maxfield and the case was adjourned until February 28 when Judge Maxfield will pass sentence.

Antisdel Receives War Records of Rock County Men in Army

War history records of many Rock county soldiers and sailors are daily being received by County Supt. O. D. Antisdel from rural school pupils. Four were received this morning, three of them being records of three boys from one family living in the town of Avon.

Blank record sheets were sent out to all the rural schools in the county several weeks ago, and the returns are most gratifying to Mr. Antisdel.

AMERICA CENSURED

Speech-making and Oratory Only
Part of This Country in Conference of Powers, Germany Claims.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, Tuesday, Jan. 28.—President Wilson's speech of Saturday before the peace congress contains the following sentence, as transmitted to Berlin and here re-translated from the German:

"The United States would have a feeling that it could not take part in guaranteeing these European adjustments unless this guaranty included the permanent surveillance of the world peace by the associated nations of the world."

This sentence, together with the reported decision of the supreme council at Tuesday's session that the German colonies must not be given back to Germany, has disquieted some German circles. The Bourgeois Zeitung says:

Germany Disappointed.
If President Wilson is correctly reported he confesses openly and he too, like President Clemenceau and Lloyd George, does not desire Germany in the future community of nations as an equal among equals, but as a nation watched by overseas president cannot wonder if the people in Germany gradually begin to form the opinion that the hopes they placed in him are to be disappointed.

The socialist newspaper Vorwaerts, in commenting on the report regarding the division of the German colonies among the allied nations, says:

European Powers Oppose U. S.
The language of nations is making a lovely beginning. The decision of the western powers to take the German colonies for themselves is borne of that spirit diametrically opposite to that proclaimed by President Wilson. It appears more and more as if it were the intention of the western imperialists to leave to Mr. Wilson the merely musical and declamatory roles of the performance and to reserve to themselves the business end of the show.

We Germans would prefer an honest policy of stand and deliver, and not an adorning of imperial aggrandizement phrases. But since America has not yet agreed to the pact we shall later see whether America can do anything except make speeches.

The official text of the passage in President Wilson's speech of Saturday alluded to in the foregoing, is transmitted from Paris Saturday night reads as follows:

"It (the United States) would feel that it could not take part in guaranteeing these European adjustments unless this guaranty included the continuous superintendence of the peace of the world by the associated nations of the world."

Miss Tiernan New Teacher in District
School at Turtle

Miss Estelle Tiernan has been secured by County Supt. Antisdel to fill the vacancy in school district No. 6, Town of Turtle, caused by the resignation of the teacher, Miss Lois Gates. He has not as yet obtained the services of a teacher to fill the vacancy in district No. 3, town of Magnolia. Some difficulty in obtaining teachers for rural schools has been experienced by Mr. Antisdel of late but no serious delays have resulted. With the graduation of a class of students from the Rock county Teachers Training school in June the 1919-20 demand for teachers should be easily met.

SHELL NEARLY KILLED JANESVILLE SOLDIER BACK FROM FRANCE

Arthur W. Moore, 9th Signal Corps, arrived in Janesville today from overseas after a year's service with headquarters company of the fifth division. Moore's arrival home was a complete surprise to his mother, Mrs. Mary Moore, who did not even know that he was in the United States.

Moore narrowly escaped death from a German shell last July, when a car he was driving was wrecked and Moore thrown unconscious to the ground. He lay there over 12 hours, when he was picked up and taken to a French hospital.

Having disappeared mysteriously, he was reported missing by his company commander. Moore spent three months in the French hospital, and practically all of the time he was the only American there.

He was mustered out of the service at Camp Grant, and left for his home here immediately.

MISSOURIAN HERE TO BUY LIVESTOCK

Joseph Pringle, a big stock buyer from southern Missouri, was in the city today with the intention of buying a carload of young head Rock county Shorthorns. He was directed to several breeders of this variety of cattle, and doubtless he will make a purchase.

The fact that a man from the "Show-Me" state will make a personal visit to Rock county for the purpose of buying high grade stock should prove an incentive to breeders of the county to form a pure bred stock association, local breeders say.

It is evident from the large number of requests for prices on stock received from buyers all over the country, during the past 6 months, that Rock county is becoming nationally famous as a stock center.

BEARMORE TALKS TO ROTARY CLUB

An explanation of charges which have been made against the Y. M. C. A. were made before the Rotary club this noon at its weekly luncheon at the Myers hotel. C. R. Bearmore, local secretary, recounted the work that the organization has done in France, as told by John R. Mott at the Chicago Y. M. C. A. convention recently.

"The Y. M. C. A. was ordered by General Pershing to take over the entire service of the army, and is the only organization which was thus authorized by the war department," Mr. Bearmore said. "It is natural that mistakes and delay should be made in the attempt to completely fill a new need."

A large number of Janesville Rotarians plan to attend the district conference of Rotary clubs at Madison Feb. 6 and 7.

WEIMER TOO SMALL FOR NEW POSITION AT CAPITOL

Weimer, Tuesday, Jan. 28.—The transportation of Weimer from a literary shrine and important provincial town into the seat of the German national assembly, is presenting physical difficulties of no small calibre. The chief problem is in connecting Weimer with the outside world, as the town is wholly unequipped for accommodating an important political gathering and the attendant demands of newspaper men. At present more than 1,000 telegraph and telephone wires are at work here establishing needed communication.

It is proposed to establish aerial communication between Weimer and Berlin, so as to lessen the burden of the wires.

IS YOUR NOSE CROOKED OR TOO LONG? HAVE IT RESHAPED; MME. YORSKA DID

Mme. Yorska in two of her latest photographs.

Madame Yorska, the well-known French actress and founder of the French theater in New York, was born with a preposterous nose. At least she claims it was of huge and ugly proportions and she says that she could prove it with photographs of herself taken before she decided to have it remodeled. The accompanying pictures, however, are two of her most recent ones and show her after she had undergone an operation, in which she claims to have had one inch taken from the end of her nose and one inch in length of bone taken from the ridge, thus leaving her nose of its humped and its ridiculous length. "I do not urge this course," the actress says, "but mine was an extreme case and I did it for my art, for they said I could not be successful in pictures with such a nose."

British See U. S. Viewpoint.

Paris, Jan. 28.—Britain's war cabinet held a special meeting yesterday to discuss the difficulty arising between President Wilson's plan for the disposal of German colonies and that of the other conferees, according to the Paris edition of the London Daily Mail, which adds that the British view is believed that some approach was made toward Mr. Wilson's viewpoint after Mr. Wilson's important speech giving more details of his plan. Premier Lloyd George, Foreign Minister Balfour, and Premier Clemenceau followed Mr. Wilson in speaking on the subject.

To the Editor:

This suggestion in regard to a site for the new high school building, came to me second hand, but I believe it is a reasonable one. I am willing to venture to pass it on through the Voice of the People, if it is acceptable.

The thought was that as long as the building now in use is expected to be used in connection with the new building anyway, why not buy all the property in the rear of the present building and close the school there, and then tear down the old Lincoln school across the way, tear down the old Lincoln school building, and as a large high school building can be built on the site of the old Lincoln school building, at much less cost than it could be purchased for elsewhere, and it would be just as central a location as Janesville can't desire. Then tear such without it builds up the marsh south of the old brewery. Now if there is not room near the present site for the athletic fields

REPORTS OF PROGRESS.

Reports of hotelkeepers and owners of houses and apartments that they are unable to take care of the transients and those who would make their homes here, is an indication that the "dream" which the men who see a bright future for the city are accused of having is a reality. Even though all around us is seen signs of growth both in population and business there are some who are hard-headed enough to doubt that the city will ever be more than a town for years. It is evident that they do not want to see the city grasp the opportunities which have been placed at its door. They are selfish because they have all the wealth they need, and do not care whether the other fellow gets ahead. They are satisfied to do things the way they were done 50 years ago. They have not kept pace with the progress the world has made.

The young men of the community who have their future before them are not going to be satisfied to sit back and let their chance slip through their fingers. They are going to be alert to opportunities and take every advantage which is offered to them. Fortunately these young men, backed by a goodly number of men of older years and with broad vision, have banded themselves into an organization known as the Young Men's Chamber of Commerce, which has within a few short months, become the heart of Janesville. They are strong enough through their organization, and through the desire to see the city progress, to overcome the drags who are trying to impede forward movement.

PROBATION OFFICER.

Women of the city have served notice that steps must be taken to care for wayward girls. In a recent meeting they took a vote to present the matter to the city officials as well as to the county board, with the view of obtaining a probation officer. The women are determined that some of the conditions which exist in the city must be stamped out. They cited several incidents which indicate that someone with police power, should be appointed to handle the situation with a firm hand.

There is no use in attempting to close our eyes to the fact that there are women and girls on the streets both day and night for no purpose other than to make money. Whether the police department is unable to cope with the situation is a question. At least it has not done so.

In Madison a few years ago, the same condition existed. A probation officer was appointed and a matron provided. Many young girls who were taking their first steps on the downward path were given a chance to get back to a clean life. They were taken in charge by the officials appointed for that purpose and saved from a life of shame. Today, Madison, although perhaps not wholly free from immoral women, is comparatively clean.

SAVING JURY FEES.

Much credit must be given Judge Grimm of the circuit court, attorneys who had cases before him, and the litigants involved, for the sensible manner in which suits were settled and the county saved thousands of dollars during the last ten years.

Judge Grimm has made it a rule to attempt to bring about an amicable settlement of all civil suits before they are tried by a jury. Not only is the county saved the expenses of jury trials, which are expensive, but the parties to the suits are generally better satisfied when arbitration is successful. It leaves a better feeling and removes much bitterness, in some cases between friends and neighbors.

It was not unusual to pay out as much as $5,000 per year for jury expenses, some 15 years or more ago. In 1918 the total was only $802.12. Such efforts on the part of public officials to save the taxpayers' money is worthy of commendation.

THE STREET PROGRAM.

The council should be complimented on the alacrity with which it laid out the street paving which is to be done this year and for the careful selection of streets which are to be paved. Janesville is going to need many paved streets as well as other improvements. Only so much of this can be done in a given time and the members of the council have the opportunity to lay out a program which will not retard growth which is inevitable, but at the same time make improvements when and where they are most needed.

Janesville business men are responding to Uncle Sam's call for assistance in after-war work with the same unselfish spirit that prevailed when the war was in progress. Many discharged soldiers have been given positions and others are open to those who need them. Janesville is one of the cities of the country which does not have a surplus of idle men within its limits.

Well, things begin to look brighter. The apt experiment station has dotted it out that farmers will make more money by feeding their barley to stock than by selling it to brewers. If there should be any left. That brings to mind that old but true one about "every cloud having a silver lining."

The Hanson personal property "off-set" bill promises to "set off" some fireworks in the legislature, so press reports indicate. The heavy taxpayers object to the repeal of the law which provides that a certain amount of personal property now charged off be added to the income assessment.

Now that a great many of our worthy citizens have gotten a lot about the proposed high school on their chests, let us get down to brass tacks and convince those who are unconvinced that a pull all together on the proposition will assure benefits to all.

The food relief bill which was used as a punching bag in congress and served as an excuse to lambast the administration for its alleged sins of commission and omission, has outlived its usefulness in that body and is now ready for the president's signature.

Here is a crumb of hope for the throng. The president has declared that "new money" can be brewed. Hold on, don't crowd! Before the said brewing can be started, the great seal of the United States must be affixed to the proclamation.

The assembly has adopted a resolution calling upon the federal trade commission to ascertain the cause for the sudden drop in tobacco prices. Here's hoping that the progress is more rapid and satisfactory than that made in investigating the packers.

Many a mother's tears of loneliness turned to smiles of joy when the announcement was made that 300,000 soldier boys would be returned from France every month, the demobilization of the army to take place soon.

The information that a cold wave is on the way is indeed welcome. It may cost father a few dollars more for coal this winter, but it will assure mother and the babies plenty of ice next summer.

THEIR OPINIONS

Congress is planning an increase of salaries for practically all postal employees. The men really deserve this concession, and they have waited long and patiently for recognition of their claims.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

The politicians in the state legislature are carefully listening with their ears to the ground, to find out what their sincere and deep rooted convictions are on pending measures.—Marquette Eagle-Star.

There seems to be a scarcity of mourners over the fact that Wisconsin is going to quit the insurance business. Even the dupes who have policies will be tickled to death to have them rewritten with some real insurance company, knowing something about insurance, signing them.—Kenosha News.

Have Right To Choose.—The returning soldiers are not asking for military honors, but they do want to be home in what they really desire. If receptions there are to be, however, there are some particular people they object to having at the homecoming. Mayor Hyman of New York, with his Hearst committee, and Mayor Thompson of Chicago, they have their doubts about.—Eau Claire Leader.

That's Settled.—The Wisconsin Brewer's association will make no fight to keep the state "wet." They are going to let it to the people, and as the people have already spoken through their representatives, it is going to be "dry."—Marion Advertiser.

Here's Your Chance.—There never was a better chance for unmarried girls from forty years down than is just presenting itself to them at this writing. Just notify those in charge of the "Bachelors' Ball" in the city who are now returning to their homes. Good Americans everyone of them, sound as a dollar and with an air about them that is all that all that they want for their own. If we were a girl, which we are not, we rather think we would like one of those lads for keeps.—Readsburg Times.

OPERATED MANY HUTS

When the German armies cried "Enough!" and the Kaiser fled to Holland the American Y. M. C. A. had under its charge 1,000 huts and buildings of various kinds.

This tremendous total, erected as an essential factor of a new theory of warfare, was now being dismantled and turned over to the needs of a just and enduring peace. They have been the home, the club, church and theatre of the millions of European soldiers. They will continue to be all these things, and their school and college besides. There is to be no lack of opportunity for the millions of soldiers to occupy a higher plane in social and industrial life than he left to answer the call to the colors.

DREAMS.

Some send out their dreams to sea in search of yellow gold.
Some send them in search of fame on explorations bold.
But most of us keep all our dreams within the little space;
Where mother sings her gentle songs and children rosin and race.

The sailor dreams of cottage walls, the soldier fights and dies.
That from a little chimney stack the smoke of peace shall rise.
And men are brave and men are true and men do splendid things
While all the time they seem to hear the song the kettle sings.

Few men there are who toil for gold, and few who toil for fame;
The cherished dream of most of us are very much the same.
We toil, when all is said and done, and measure our success
By what it brings into the home of love and happiness.

Our dreams are bound to tender things, to laughter and to play,
To brave farewells and welcomes true with every passing day.
If those at home and pride in us then we rejoice because we've seen our fondest dream come true.

Germany caused the original shortage of food. Shortages come home to roost.

Uncle Terwilliger says it is going to be mighty hard to prove to him that the war is over. He has been told to tear his wife away from him, knitting long enough to darn his socks, and he is practically wearing whistles on his ankles.

There seems to be a general idea that a substitute was executed instead of the czar of Russia, but we don't see how it was possible to duplicate those parted whiskers.

High School News

Fifty-six new faces will soon be seen in the high school, when the Freshmen B. class will arrive. The children will come a week from Monday and will be assigned seats in Miss Scanlon's room, as there will not be sufficient seating capacity for them in the main room. Out of the expected 56, 15 are due from the Washington school, 8 from the Lutheran Perichal, 18 from the Adams, 14 from the Jefferson and one from the Vocational school. It is possible that a number more will also come as final arrangements have not been as yet completed.

Miss Keesey's class on citizenship spent a very profitable morning yesterday, when it toured the State School for the Blind under the personal direction of Superintendent J. Hooper. Classes in music, mathematics, and reading were visited along with several of the other departments of the school. Bassford's second hour Oral English class also accompanied the class.

Principal George A. Bassford, received a communication yesterday from Lawrence college requesting the high school to enter into a Tri-Debate League. The plan is to have Janesville, Beloit and Washington high school of Milwaukee form one league and debate on the following topic: "Resolved that a league of nations be formed to guarantee permanent peace." It is thought that the Janesville school will be represented in the league.

Although efforts have been made to speed up the founding of the Janesville, Beloit and Madison debating league, Beloit has as yet not announced its intentions of entering.

The new Sophomore reading list is now completed and contains a list of books, that will make very interesting as well as instructive reading.

ing the position. A. J. Ray will also continue as Financial Agent.

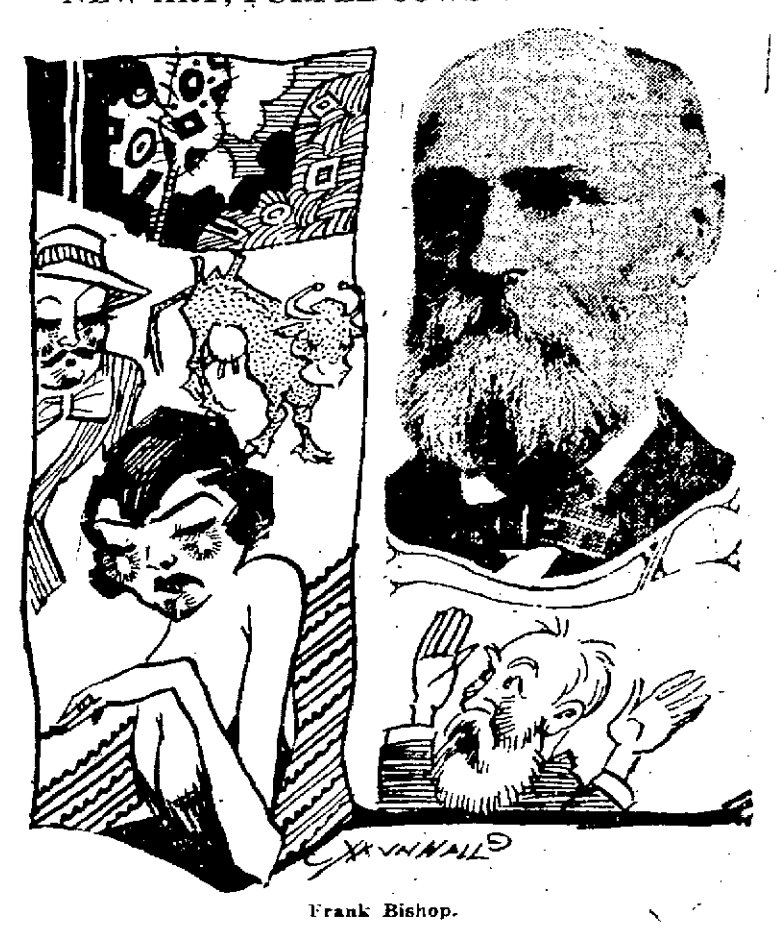

N. S. Murphy, president of the Milwaukee Sentinel company was a welcome caller at the Gazette office this afternoon.

One of the pupils at the school for the Blind has become insane and was taken to the state hospital today. This is the first case in the history of the institution, of one of its inmates becoming insane.

Little May Thomas will commence a walk at Monroe next Monday night. She will attempt the task of walking 125 miles in 28 hours, which is a big task for anyone, and much more for the ten year old Buckwidge.

Beloit pedestrian will walk with her. A. P. Bennett will start tomorrow morning for New York. He will be absent a week or ten days.

Murder Suspect on Bail.
Eau Claire.—Leo Kleinschmidt, 18, the Cadott boy who shot and killed his father, Charles Kleinschmidt, several days ago to save his mother, as he said, was bound over on Sunday under $1,000 bail as a charge of second degree murder. He pleaded not guilty on being arraigned.

The boy's mother, a brother and two sisters, all swore that the shooting was done when the older Mr. Kleinschmidt, after hurling dishes at Mrs. Kleinschmidt, cornered her and threatened to kill her as she crouched on the floor. They testified that Kleinschmidt came home and began quarreling as soon as he entered the house. Leo did not take the stand.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

While most of us have been freezing and worrying about the shortage of gas and the high cost of coal, Constance Talmadge has been making a picture in which bathing suits and beach scenes hold sway. Some people are always lucky and it is no wonder that girls go "movie-mad" when they hear about the pleasant life of a film favorite.

"Who Cares?" is the name of the picture and there are two high spots in it, a display of surf costumes and a cafe scene copied from one of the most famous places in America.

The beach scenes in "Who Cares?" are numerous and in them Miss Talmadge introduces several modish bathing costumes. Unlike the average young woman, who makes a bathing suit do service for a whole season, Miss Talmadge in "Who Cares?" has a different suit for every dip in the surf.

"But, all of the scenes in 'Who Cares?' were not made on the beach and while the bathing suit moments will undoubtedly get a share of attention, there is one unusual cafe scene that is said to be the most expensive one ever made on the coast. The set for the cafe scenes is a replica of one of the most famous restaurants in America, and as a special feature, Marjorie Loomis, one of the Danish dancers is seen in a solo performance.

The story has to do with a girl who plays at love.

PIANIST IN FILMS

Ignace Jan Paderewski, world famous pianist and patriotic Pole, is to get into pictures. He has entered a contract to appear in a film, the purpose of which, according to statements given out, is to represent the traditions, ideals and aspirations of Poland and to emphasize the important factor which that country will become in the remaking of the map of Europe, and in the establishment of a new democracy out of the chaos of the world war. All the proceeds from the film will be turned over to the Polish relief fund. Mrs. Paderewski will also be featured in the film. Some of the scenes have already been taken.

STAGE LOSES AGAIN

A tempting offer from the Goldwyn company has caused the temporary loss to the stage of Corinne Barker, last seen in "Remnant," in which no more than three metropolitan critics hailed her as "a new American stage beauty."

in a new Goldwyn production for which she has been especially engaged. In a brief period and through the medium of five pictures, Miss Barker has already gained distinction for a notable screen personality and beauty.

EMMY TAKES JOY RIDE

Of the many exciting adventures to which a moving picture star becomes accustomed riding in a patrol wagon to a police station would seem to be the least desirable, and yet Emmy Wehlen, star of "Sylvia on a Spree," which was made from the story of the same name by E. Frost, believes in realism for her work and insisted that an honest-to-goodness patrol wagon be used in one of her scenes.

A WOMAN'S BUSINESS

By Zoe Beckley

MAN'S CASE AGAINST WOMAN. Janet Stedman was not of the "sit-down-dare-you" type. She was not given to squabbles and petty squabbles. Her resentment was more apt to take a sullen turn. Resentment at Roy's kiss was strong upon her now. What right had Roy Nicol to take her like that? How dare he treat her like a flirtatious girl or a married woman who laughed at loyalty.

Presently she was aware that Nicol was speaking. She turned to listen, making a swift mental resolution that she would not forgive him, no matter how fervently he apologized. To her astonishment he was not apologizing. He was asking her a question: "Are you done with me, Janet?" Outraged and disgusted and all that sort of thing? Determined to inform her husband of his behavior, she said: "Ready to cast me forever along the human swine?" Janet answered slowly the only one of his four queries that impressed her deeply. "No—I shall say nothing about it to my husband. It would worry him nothing. It can't be undone. Nor can it be repeated; I'll take care of that."

Nicol said nothing for a moment, busy with himself with the steering wheel. "Telling Walt would be the thing to do about that," he finally said. "Walt would understand. He would tell you," cried Janet indignantly. "If you think Walt holds me cheaply—"

"I mean nothing of the sort," he interrupted with quiet earnestness. "I mean he would understand—all men understand these things. He would doubtless make a horrible fuss, beat me up or shoot me down. But in my heart he knows as well as I that the man's side of this business is never set forth; only the woman's."

Despite herself, Janet found her resentment turning to interest. "You'll have to explain, Roy," she said simply. "I don't understand."

"Of course you don't," Janet said. "You never see but the one side—your own side. You never think of the temptations you throw in a man's way. You make yourselves sweet and alluring and then are horrified if a man succumb to your charm. You make all kinds of play for our attention and interest and love and then pretend to be cut to the core when we blunder a little in giving into you. Half the time you women say one thing and mean another. Flow are you men to know when I take offense, and when you won't? I've known loads of women who froze a man to death with their manner and then rebuked him for being a fish. Looking for a girl and women like you and then desert him, chin in air, withering words on lip. How on earth is a man to know who is sincere and who isn't?"

"You're known me for years, Roy Nicol," retorted Janet, "and there can't be any doubt in your mind as to how I feel about you. I don't want to be treated as if I were a child. I haven't treated you disrespectfully," insisted Nicol stoutly. "I simply forgot myself for a moment and put what I felt for you into a word. It had put it into mere words you wouldn't have resented it. We're such hypocrites, Janet. You would like to have me kiss you, yet you get mad when I actually do! Be honest, now, isn't it true?" Janet was silent. She was wrestling with a new idea. "If we men don't lose our heads over you women," Roy continued, "we're not men. Nothing makes a woman so angry or so discouraged as to feel she is perfectly safe with a man. You may not know it, Janet, but a woman always expects a man to make some sort of love to her some time. That's the reason men do it. Occasionally, we do it at the wrong time. I guess I did tonight. Janet was in a blue mood. And with you suggesting down there beside me—I—well—I'm sorry." He finished abruptly in awkward apology. Janet's brain was seething with fragments of argument, questions, theories. Something told her there were sound ideas in Roy's philosophy. She held out her hand as the car reached the door. "Roy Nicol," she said impulsively, "I think you can teach me something. I'm—I'm not unfriendly. Good night."

"I'll see you next talk," smiled Nicol, and sped away. (To be continued.)

A Tailleur Model Makes Smart Suit

By Elsie.

Spring may not be here but the spring fashions are. Suits, hats and coats are vying for first place in the attention of the early buyer. The suits for the coming season are marked by the long, light skirts and short box coats. For the most part they will fasten up close to the neck and often there will be no collar but merely a finished round neck. The suits are more popular than in the past seasons and the long, light skirt will be one of its new features. One thing which foretells the popularity of the light-colored suit is the large number of high-necked blouses which are making their appearance in the shops. They are a sure sign of the coming of the tailored suit.

The light-colored black and white checked serge suit built on the tailored lines. It is not too mannishly severe to please even the most delicate. The skirt is particularly pleasing to the eye, slim girl who wants a chic street or business suit. Black silk broad binds the edges and seams of both the coat and skirt. The coat has a wide shawl collar and the skirt has a wide shawl collar. The skirt has a wide shawl collar and the skirt has a wide shawl collar.

For each pound of prunes use a pound of cold water. Soak gelatin in the cold water. Dissolve in the heated prune juice. (Remember that gelatin mixture must never be placed over the fire.) Beat fruit juice. Set aside until partly jellied, then whip with an egg beater until it becomes white and frothy. Serve as above.

Prune Fudding.—One cooked prune (seeds removed), three-quarters cup milk, one tablespoon vegetable fat, one cup bread crumbs, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon vanilla and a pinch of salt, place in an oiled baking dish. Mix ingredients in the order given. Place the dish in a pan of hot water and bake until firm, never allowing the water in the pan to boil.

Raisin Cream Filling.—Beat three-quarters cup heavy cream until stiff. Soak and dissolve one teaspoon gelatin in four tablespoons milk. When cool, beat the thickened, add two or three tablespoons of whipped cream. Gradually add sugar, constantly, one-half cup confectioner's sugar, and beat well into the whipped cream. Then add two-thirds cup seeded raisins shredded fine (seeds removed) and three tablespoons of melted butter. Mix ingredients in the order given. Place the dish in a pan of hot water and bake until firm, never allowing the water in the pan to boil.

Widow Asks Court Aid. Manitowish.—Mrs. Mary Orth, a widow, asks $3,000 as alimony for a judgment in her suit against William Rathrock, Jr., on trial in circuit court here. Mrs. Orth alleges that Mr. Rathrock won her promise to wed after a courtship of a year and that he failed to fulfill his part of the agreement. The disagreement is said to have resulted over a proposed settlement of Rathrock's estate if Mrs. Orth wedded him.

SIDE TALKS

RUTH CAMERON

HOW TO BE POPULAR.

"I don't know whether you can help me or not, but I feel sadly in the need of advice. To be brutally frank, I want to know how I can make fellows like me. That seems crude and foolish, but I don't mean it as such. I'm getting so discouraged; other girls have boy friends and have such jolly good times, while I seem to be destined to be an old maid."

This is the key sentence of a state of mind which a dear little letter friend puts up to me to try and heal. Some Such Girls in Every Neighborhood of the Country.

I am writing about it here because it is such a very typical case. I don't suppose there is a town in this whole country where there aren't at least a few girls who feel just that way. My heart aches for them, not because I believe they are destined for unhappiness, but because I know how black things look to them just now.

My little friend goes on to describe herself. She is seventeen, but looks older; she is neither especially pretty, nor plain; she doesn't mean to be a prig but does hate "mushiness"; many of the parties she attends seem foolish to her; she is getting to have that "out of the world" look.

Now this is what I have to say to her, and to the rest.

First, I doubt if you will ever be generally popular.

Second, I believe that in all likelihood you will marry, and marry happily.

A NEGRO'S PRAYER. London (By Mail).—Three American chess players who recently came overseas on a boat that carried a contingent of colored troops and had a somewhat terrifying experience in a gale, praise the conduct of the negro soldiers in time of peril.

For the most part, they were utterly at ease," said Mrs. Marlon Chase Schaffer of Chicago, one of the trio. "During the storm many of them prayed quietly."

But even in the midst of the gale that it seemed would sink our ship, one couldn't help being amused by the incident of the negro soldiers.

"A negro soldier, older than most of his companions, and deathly sick, was bent over the rail feeding the fishes! Between spasms of illness he was praying loudly. One time he raised up, turned his eyes heavenward and shouted: 'O—O—Oh, LAWD, CALL DISH-YER-ANGRY SEA TO ATTENTION!'"

At the canteen of Mrs. Vincent Astor in Brest, France, as many as six thousand soldiers have been entertained in one day.

The Girls Men "Rush" and the Women They Marry. There is no use blinking the fact boys and grown-up boys, like certain qualities in the girls they run about with that you do not possess. They like prettiness; they like high spirits that are forever ready to laugh and joke over anything or nothing; and they like "easiness" or "mushiness." But they do not always marry these girls, by any means.

You are! I should say, the sort of girl who will attract men, not by a first meeting, but through propinquity.

I once knew a girl who was somewhat like you, and felt just as unhappy as you do at seventeen. She had absolutely no attention from men, yet she was the first of her set to marry, and married well.

Don't be so frightened, but be careful not to be self-righteous in your avoidance of "mushiness."

Try not to be self-conscious, and too anxious to make an impression. Think not of yourself, but of the boys you are talking with. Take an interest in their interests. Flatter them a bit.

Be a sport in the best sense of the word, ready for a good time, enthusiastic, quick to enjoy, and admire. Boys of all ages love those qualities.

Foreign Language Teachers Hit. Milwaukee.—Teachers of the foreign languages in the public schools have no cause of action against the city because of their being deprived of employment through the discontinuance of foreign language teaching, according to C. W. Babcock, assistant city attorney, who held the abolition of the teaching positions through the discontinuance of the foreign language department by the school board abolishes the positions and does not constitute a discharge of the teachers which would entitle them to a hearing under the civil service rules.

It had been held by the school board that foreign language teachers who have taught four years and were thus made permanent teachers, must be provided with positions elsewhere in the school when their places were discontinued.

A Guide to GOOD MANNERS

by Janice

To avoid embarrassment when traveling it is well to know some of the ordinary methods of procedure at hotels. On arriving at a hotel the guest proceeds at once to the desk and applies for a room. He signs the register at once, using the form adding after it the name of the city or town which is his permanent place of abode.

A woman will find it more convenient to engage her room in advance.

In regard to tips, ten cents is regarded as customary to give the bellboy for any services he might render. It should be remembered when tipping that to tip too generously is a mark of inexperience and bad taste as much as to omit the tip when the server is entitled to it.

The Daily Noveltie

A ROLLING STONE GATHERS, ETC.

(Origin of the Famous Sayings) Series.)

Eager expectancy pervaded the air and faces of the redskins grouped outside the wigwam of Laughing-Jiyena, great big chief of the Chicawpwo Tribe.

After a while, old Saunting Squaw called out and announced that a boy child had been sent by the Great Spirit to the great big chief a few minutes before. Then Laughing-Jiyena went into the wigwam, and came out with a little pupoose and went out to name it.

According to the Indian Custom, Chief Laughing-Jiyena was blindfolded and turned around seven times to the east and seven times to the west and then kicked out the door. When outside, he took off the bandage and the first thing he laid his eyes upon was a huge stone—rolling—rolling—rolling down the distant mountain.

Then Wawa-kooke asked his father for the privilege of wooing Hoop-lala, the timid daughter of the tribal head face-painter.

"Gr-r-r!" grunted the Chief, wiggling his nose up and down angrily. "Thou shalt wed none but a daughter of the royal bloods—daughter of a chief; so that thy children and thy children's children and thy children's children's children and their children's children—"

"A-ha!" exclaimed Wawa-kooke, drawing himself up proudly. "he repeated and said—Wawa-kooke, goosee moosee (then—Rolling-stone gathers no moss!)"

And he rode away from the village and instigated a massacre of the chiefs of his father's tribe for revenge.

HEALTH TALKS

THREE KINDS OF IMMUNITY.

Some folks are born immune to certain diseases which usually overtake the rest of us. The goat, for example, is almost totally immune to tuberculosis, whereas as the dairy cow is almost always susceptible. Certain races are far more susceptible than other races to smallpox, measles, tuberculosis and syphilis. The disease called anthrax is very quickly fatal to our domestic sheep, but Algerian sheep have a strong resistance to anthrax. All of these facts illustrate natural immunity.

Some of us achieve immunity. This is one has an attack of typhoid fever and recovers. He owes his recovery only indirectly to intelligent medical management and good nursing; he is directly indebted for recovery to the germicide and antitoxin manufactured in his own blood and tissues to meet and overwhelm the infection. Having recovered from typhoid fever, one remains immune to that disease. But Algerian sheep have a strong resistance to anthrax. All of these facts illustrate natural immunity.

Some have immunity thrust upon them. This is a case where less than 200 soldiers in our army in the great war had typhoid fever, whereas 80,000 troops in the civil war had typhoid, and 20,000 in the Spanish-American war had the disease. The reason is that immunization against typhoid fever has been made possible since the Spanish-American war. A compulsory for all our troops in the great war. This immunization may now be produced by a single hypodermic injection of a typhoid vaccine, which is in use in the French army. This is artificial immunization. Nature cures 75 per cent of pneumonia cases and fails to save 25 per cent. She saves about 30 per cent of all diphtheria cases and she is too slow to save the other 70 per cent, so science applies the speeding up process of artificial method and saves most of them.

Nature's ways are the only ways, so far as our knowledge of infection and immunity goes, at present, and the prevention and cure of infectious diseases is possible. Do not conclude from this fact that the nature-faster healer merits confidence. A superior odus of quackery and pseudo-scientific plausibility masquerades as "nature."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. We have five children, pretty healthy specimens so far. The youngest, a girl, is it is delivered from the farm, crack it in a hand grinder and cook it over night in a little water. The children are served it for breakfast. The children are served it for breakfast. The children are served it for breakfast.

ANSWER.—It is an excellent breakfast food for children or adults, and should be adopted generally in place of the denatured and sickening meats of the children eating too much of the wheat.

Twelve Years of It. I have had stomach trouble for over twelve years, and in that time I have probably spent a thousand dollars for medicine that did me no good. What would you advise me to try now? (G. D. W.)

ANSWER.—A doctor. Especially for Parents. Tell me, do you think parents should instruct children before marriage about sex? Should children be allowed to pick up information in such ways as they may? (A. N. V.)

ANSWER.—The question comes in the course of a letter describing a tragedy in life. If parents fail to instruct their children about sex, they are then whose business, or concern is it? Parents who fail to instruct their children in a way that is cruel and cowardly.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am having a great trouble with a dry scalp and dandruff. My hair is coming out and falling out. I have tried several tonics and they only make the scalp more dry. Can you suggest anything?

Vaseline is one of the best hair-growers and will help to get rid of dandruff and a dry scalp. It depends on the dryness of the scalp how often the vaseline should be applied. Once or twice a week should be often enough.

Make a part straight from the front to the back of the head and rub the vaseline in thoroughly. Be careful not to let it get on the hair itself. When you have finished that part of the scalp, make another part, and continue thus until you have massaged the whole head.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls fifteen and seventeen years of age. We are both very pretty and dress nicely. People talk about me. What can we do to make them stop it? TWO GIRLS.

If your conduct is all right, you will not need to care what people say. It is always a good plan not to do anything that you would not be willing to have any one else see. Be quiet in your dress and modest in your manner. Study and take an interest in sports. Some girls are talked about because they think of nothing besides boys.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How can a girl converse with a bashful boy? If a girl finds it difficult to keep up conversation with a bashful boy, she should resort to reading. This takes up time and furnishes a topic for conversation.

Heart and Home Problems

By Elizabeth Thompson

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am the oldest child in a family of eight. I have always been a lot to take care of my younger brothers and sisters. I had three years of high school education and then had to give up my studies because of my mother's death. When my brothers and sisters have gone to work and earned their own living, I have stayed at home and kept house and sewed. They have gone out in the evening hours and had to remain at home working because I am always so busy.

Now I am thirty-five. I will never marry because I have not had a love affair since my school days. My brothers and sisters tell me that I am a plain old maid. I do not have clothes because my father does not give me enough money to buy pretty things. Usually it is my lot to wear some cast-off garments of one of my sisters. Two of my sisters are married now. They still look upon me as a servant and when they want to be from their children they bring them over for me to take care of.

I am so tired of my life and I can't see any chance for a change. I want money of my own and I can't make my father see that I should have it. What shall I do? BERTHA.

You ought to have a change from the life you have been leading. After so many years of housework you are probably impatient for a change. If I were you I would insist upon having an allowance in proportion to what your sisters are earning, or I would go away for a while and work somewhere and get a position as nurse to children in a private home. This would give you a chance to earn your own money and would give your family a chance to know how much you were worth to them. It does not pay to sacrifice oneself entirely for duty. If you dress well

TIPPECANOE

Being a True Chronicle of Certain Passages Between DAVID LARRENCE and LYDIA CRANMER, O'BANNON of the Battle of Tippecanoe in the Indiana Wilderness, and of What Befell Thereafter in Old Corydon and now first set forth by SAMUEL MCCOY

He wheeled and saw Lydia Cranmer. The girl broke into a laugh at the expression of utter surprise.

"You here, Lydia?" he cried in amazement. "Did you come here from Corydon? Where's your father?"

"Why, yes, we've been here for weeks. Father's gone to see some friends at Fort Steuben tonight, but he'll be back soon."

So this was where Cranmer had gone, after that night in the smithy at Corydon. David saw in a flash that upon himself alone must depend Cranmer's capture. Hiding his excitement, he pretended to listen to Lydia with eager pleasure.

She ran on in naive delight at seeing David once more. They were living in the cabin nearest the inn, she said; and she begged David to come and talk with her till her father returned. It was late when they heard Cranmer's voice lifted in a roaring ballad and distinguished his portly form moving uncertainly down the path that led to the cabin.

David felt himself grow hot with repugnance as the man drew nearer. He had not seen him since that night when he had watched the three conspirators in the smithy.

Cranmer's heavy steps drew nearer; he started in surprise when he came on the two figures in the darkness and there was a note of relief in his laughter when he heard David speak.

"Why, it's young Lawrence! Sweethearting out here in the dark, you rogues? Well, when your mother

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Nitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and To Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and placing ugly hollows and angles by the sort curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in most food. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among the druggists as Nitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by Smith Drug Co. in Janesville, and almost in all druggists in the country.

By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, Nitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION:—Although Nitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not be used for its remarkable flesh-growing properties, but only by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

PETEY DINK—AND IF HE DOESN'T ANSWER THERE'LL BE WAR.

MERCY!

was your age, Lydia!

David flushed with resentment at the man's coarseness, but he gave him a civil good night. He planned to watch the house and confront Cranmer when Lydia was not present.

"You won't stay a bit longer? I've been kept overlong with the young man across the river—they're a set of jolly dogs. You won't stay? Good night, my boy!"

The man was evidently laboring under an excitement not wholly due to wine; David had not taken a dozen steps when he heard Cranmer burst out in an exultant whisper that was louder than he realized:

"Well, daughter, my work is done!"

"Hush!" said Lydia sharply, and drew him within doors.

David stopped short in his tracks. There was not a moment to lose. Without doubt, Cranmer had finished his work as a spy and was ready to leave, laden with information that would be of value to the British, should war actually be declared.

What a jolly, ingenious guest the Kentuckians must have found him! He set his jaws firmly together and took a quick step toward the cabin. It might not be too late. A thread of light shone from the crack of the heavy door.

"Mr. Cranmer!" he called. There was the sound of a chair moved hastily back from a table, and the figure of Cranmer was outlined in the candlelight.

"Well?" he asked suspiciously. "I have forgotten a matter that I wished to speak to you about, sir," said David. His voice was without a trace of agitation.

There was a moment's pause. Cranmer peered into the darkness. "Well, if it's no great matter I'll just step outside again."

He closed the door behind him and came forward with hearty friendliness in his voice:

"What can I do for you, my lad?" David breathed a sigh of relief. It was time to come to action.

"I'll trouble you for those plans, Cranmer," he said quietly. The man recoiled a step and David heard him draw in his breath sharply.

"I'll Trouble You for Those Plans, Cranmer."

But the night hid his expression and he summoned a blustering: "Plans? What plans? Young men, you choose a strange hour to joke in."

"You are well aware this is no joke, Cranmer. I want those plans of Fort Steuben."

"Fort Steuben! Well, damme, if this isn't impudence! If you've something to say, say it, and be done with this foolishness."

David took a step forward. "You know well enough what I mean. I know that you are here as one of England's spies. You have made notes concerning Fort Steuben. I want them."

An incoherent roar of rage burst from Cranmer. His voice shook with suppressed fury.

"So that's what you've been doing, you dirty whelp! Spying on me while you pretended to court my daughter! I'll break you with my two hands, you dog!"

He choked with rage and hurled his bulk at David. But, with a litheness new-born in the wilderness, David stepped quickly to one side and drove his long right arm full at the Englishman's distorted face. The blow went straight to the jaw, with the momentum of a stone body behind it, and the spy, went down with a grunt.

In a flash David had leaped upon him, pinning his arms with his knees, while he tore open the man's waistcoat and thrust his hand quickly into his pockets. A fat bundle of papers rewarded his search and he rose to his feet with an ejaculation of thankfulness. Cranmer groaned weakly and strove in vain to rise.

"Get up!" said David grimly. "Your game is done for. One word from me, and you hang at sunrise. But, for your daughter's sake, I'll give you a chance for your life. Get out of Clarkburg tonight and I'll hold these papers for you where to go—your Indian friends will find a hole for you in the wilderness, doubtless. Go! And may God forgive you!"

He was conscious of no feeling of elation, but only of an unbearable regret that life should be so sordid; and of a sickening sorrow for the poor girl whose father had forced her with him along this shameful road. When he had gained the tavern, he examined the bundle of papers with a heavy heart—damning evidence, sketches of a dozen forts along the frontier, detailed descriptions of the garrisons of each. He folded them up carefully and replaced them in his coat with a sigh. At dawn he set off again for Corydon.

But Cranmer tottered back into his daughter's room with the face of a dead man. "It's all up!" he cried in a ghastly whisper. "I must get away from here tonight. There's only one chance to win yet—you'll have to stay here, my girl; I'll see Scull tonight and set him upon this Lawrence; and if he succeeds in getting the plans back, you are to bring them on to me at Detroit. God, how came he to suspect! You—did you—no, you're true! Goodbye! Do as I bid you. Goodbye! Scull will be over soon—he'll take care of you. I'm glad you are soon to be married."

He strained the weeping girl to his breast and hurried away. A boat across the foaming river and a stumble through the dark brought him to Scull's door. A cautious tattoo summoned the man from his bed and the story was told, while terror seemed to fix its icy hands more and more deeply in Cranmer's throat with every hurrying moment. Scull looked at his white face and excited secretly at his collapse. A seeming contempt for the man before whom he had so often cringed filled his heart. "And what do you expect me to do?" he asked coldly.

A flash of his old truculence returned to Cranmer. "Do?" he whispered hoarsely. "There's but one thing for you to do, my pretty man. You will have to get those plans back from that skulking rascal-bone. It's your own business now. Then give them to Lydia. You may think you've done a fine thing in giving up the work that you came here to do, but I promise you that England has a long arm. You'll not escape if you fail us."

Scull shrank again from his menacing gesture. His abject protestations of faithfulness fell hastily from his trembling lips, and the spy, with a growl of satisfaction, stole out again into the dark and silent night.

At Vincennes, two days later, old "Horsehead" Gibson, the Lieutenant governor, sat writing a letter to Capt. Billy Hargrove, who was riding miles away in the wilderness at the head of a dozen forest rangers. The old man wrote slowly, with a hand more used to a rifle than a pen. The letter, when he had finished it, ran:

Vincennes, Indiana, Territory, July 29, 1811.

For about ten days a man has been around Fort Steuben who had such good papers of recommendation that he was permitted to go where he pleased and was all through the fort and barracks. He has disappeared and took with him a very fine saddle horse which belonged to Col. Luke Decker, together with a fine saddle and a pair of heavy pistols in the holsters. It was thought he went toward the Maumee river and may come near some of your stations. There is no doubt he is a British spy and is a very desirable to capture him. A description of him given by those with whom he was is: A heavy man, five feet ten inches in height, would weigh about one hundred and eighty pounds; dark hair, black eyes, and he wore a fine velvet vest and a dark blue long-tailed coat, both ornamented with silver buttons. He wore a pair of fine white dressed buckskin knee breeches with silver buckles at his knee; a pair of fine leather shoes with silver buckles; a swivel hat, made out of beaver skin. Sacrifice.

The tall young physician from Louisville rode his sorrel mare into Corydon next day and drew rein at Patrice O'Bannon's door.

Tolnetto, in the early morning sunshine, was rapturous bird-song made into woman, a flower dew-bright, a carol, an embodiment of earth's rejoicing. She welcomed Elliott with a smile that made him wonder, with a ready vanity, if he had not been mistaken in the rebuff she had once administered. If he had pressed her more hardly—did she really love Lawrence? Ah, if he could only drive the man out of Corydon! The black beast of his jealous hatred rode on his back and he went straight to his purpose:

"I have and news for you, Tolnetto."

The smile faded from her face and she looked at him with a slow alarm growing in her eyes.

"It is very hard for me to tell you. It is about Lawrence."

"David!" The name was wrung from her like a gasp.

"I cannot believe the truth myself. You remember that I told you once that I suspected Lawrence of being in league with the Englishman, Cranmer? I have learned the certain truth since then—Cranmer has fled and Lawrence is left to finish his work—the work of a spy!"

"Who says this?"

"Captain Bullitt at Louisville told me. It will be common talk in another day. I do not know what to do. I have not slept all night. Only one thing has been clear to me—my love for you."

"What part has that in this?" she asked proudly.

DINNER STORIES

It was the annual fair and sports, somewhere in England, and among the attractions horses were for sale. They were not a handsome-looking lot, but they excited a little curiosity. An old farmer, on the look-out for a bargain, approached a dealer and inquired the price of a steed that had probably won a prehistoric derby.

"Seventeen and sixpence," was the reply.

The farmer closed with the offer and tendered a pound note in payment, but the horse dealer had no change.

"Never mind, guv'nor," he said. "Take another horse but pick one of the 'uns you'll have the blessed lot down."

The following is a Munchausen tale, showing the quality of the mud in Flanders at the present day.

A soldier walking along a road noticed a hat, which he attempted to kick out of the mud. What was his surprise to find a head under it, and to hear a voice calling for help.

When the man was extricated, he said: "I was on horseback." So rather they proceeded to dig out the horse. The horse's mouth was found to be full of hay taken from a wagon which had sunk still further down.

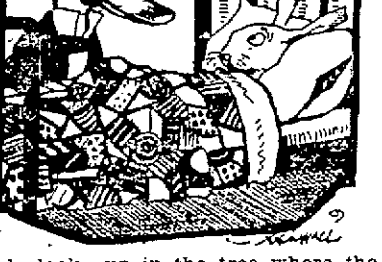

A North of Ireland man wanted to send a telegram to a friend in a remote part of the island. The clerk told him the charge would be one shilling and sixpence.

"Sixpence for the wire and a shilling for delivery outside the radius." "That be hang'd," retorted the Irishman. "You send the telegram and I'll write and ask him to call for it."

Yes, Robbie Redbreast sang to me just like a little song. Which, if you'll wait, I will relate. For it's not very long.

He told me that the apple trees Are pink and white and blossoms. And that the bees are buzzing there All through the sunny hours.

And do you know, I don't think there's anything so lovely as an apple tree in bloom. And when I was a little boy I loved to lie on the grass and look up in the tree where the blossoms, pink and white, made it look just like a big nosegay of flowers.

"Tell me, little robin," I said, "are you never worried about anything?"

And the little red-breasted bird said no. "I'm as happy as the day is long," he answered, and then he flew off to the orchard to sing to Mrs. Robin.

So I closed the window and went outside to see what Uncle Lucky was doing. For I had just heard his auto horn go "honk, honk, honk."

Well, sure enough, there was the old gentleman rabbit, and who do you suppose was with him in the Lucky-mobile? You'd never guess, so I might as well tell you right away.

Why, it was Dr. Quack, the wise old duck doctor, you know. For Billy Bunny had the whooping cough and the dear old gentleman rabbit was dreadfully worried.

All Choked Up With Catarrh? Why Continue Makeshift Treatment?

Sprays and douches will never cure you.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing painful and difficult breathing and other discomforts. But the real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface.

To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood. Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which completely routs from your blood the Catarrh germs, for which it is a perfect antidote.

S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. If you wish medical advice as to the treatment of your own individual case, write to-day to Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. B, Atlanta, Ga.

Well, pretty soon Uncle Lucky stopped at the Old Brier Patch and he and Dr. Quack, with his little black bag, went inside to see the little rabbit.

And of course Mrs. Bunny was dreadfully upset. She couldn't think of anything but her little bunny boy, and the tea kettle had burned a great hole in its bottom and she couldn't make a cup of tea for the doctor, who was very fond of carrot tea, especially Mrs. Bunny's.

"Let me see your tongue," said Dr. Quack. So the little rabbit put out his tongue, and then the wise duck doctor took out some little pills and three little white powders and told Mrs. Bunny to give them to the little rabbit every other minute and even oftener if he kept on coughing.

And then Dr. Quack said good-bye and went over to the old barn yard to see Henny Jenny, who had the chickens.

Well, after Billy Bunny had swallowed two powders and three and a half pills he felt perfectly well. Wanting another wonderful medicine the duck doctor gave him. Well, I just guess it was, and if you ever get the whooping cough you can call him up on the telephone. "Oh, oh, oh. Come quick, Duckville!" and he'll cure you in less than five hundred short minutes.

HEARD FROM OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

Thomas W. Cushing.

"We are sleeping in a bed—a real bed," writes Sgt. Thomas Cushing, 10th Reg. Engrs., to his mother. He tells of the progress of the division and the many battles they were in. His letter follows:

"Oberbeiber, Germany, Dec. 20, 1918. I am satisfied and glad enough to be alive and have the war over. I think I have reason to be satisfied after being under shell fire for five or six months, with shells dropping close by all the time, and not even getting a scratch. I think I am very lucky, and in fact I know I am. I would like to tell you some of the things that happened but I have so much to tell you that I cannot tell you all. I do hope, though, that I can forget all about some of the things I have seen."

"I suppose you often thought I should have written more often, but we were on the front all the time for day and night, as it happened to be and no place to write, except sitting in a hole in the ground trying to keep out of the rain, with a shell or to a little sleep, as it might be. There was one time when we didn't sleep for four days and nights, we were so busy keeping the roads open so our artillery could get up to the small guns, and to get food up to the men in the front lines. But we did it, and did a good job, too, and not one man complained, and we were ordered. Guess that's why this division (thirty-second) was so successful and is considered the best division in the American army; and the best in Wisconsin and Michigan, too. Some of the poor fellows that are not with us now will never know just how much has been accomplished, but that is no their fault, but their fortune. The French call us the 'Division of Terribles' and guess it is well named as it sure did wonderful work. We have fought on all the fronts in the American sector. Wisconsin and Michigan can well be proud of their soldiers from home, for they sure have put those states on the map. I am proud to say and know I live in Wisconsin, and I know all the rest of the fellows are. I am also glad to have been able to fight in such a division as the thirty-second."

"I am now living in a German house with one other sergeant, in the town of Oberbeiber. We are sleeping in a bed—a real bed, and it seems great after sleeping in a hole in the ground or any place we happened to be. The lady of the house here is fine to us. She has a nice table where we bring our mess kit full of food and sit down and eat. It seems almost real again. This lady is making great preparations for our Christmas dinner, and I know we will enjoy it, but am sure I would enjoy it much more if I were at home, but I will be there soon I hope. All you hear over here is 'I wonder when we are going home?'"

Gilbert Frederick.

Mrs. George Baumann of South Main street has received an interesting letter from her nephew, Gilbert Frederick, who was in London at the time he wrote. Gilbert is well known in Janesville, having spent many of his vacations here. His letter follows:

"Here I am in London on leave. Arrived here yesterday morning and have to leave again Wednesday. The censorship regulations are off in Great Britain. They were still censoring when I left the base last Friday but I expect them to be called off when we return. It is only a matter of time as they have to keep on doing it until they are notified. We assembled the mines and loaded them on the ships which took them out in the North sea and laid them. I sailed from Halifax, N. S., in Canada, and landed in Plymouth, England. From there we went up to Inverness, about a 24-hour run. I came across an English ship. We made it in less than 12 days and had fine weather all the time. We were attacked by submarines but our destroyers dropped depth charges and we sank them. One submarine came up and was in the explosion. Inverness is a pretty little city of twenty some thousand in all."

"I had this trouble ten or eleven years. Then I used Cuticura, and I used eight cakes of Soap with five boxes of Ointment and I was healed." (Signed) Miss Lolo Converse, 120 N. Mission St., Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

"BUD" BUELL MAKES HIT AT WASHINGTON

Janesville basketball fans will be interested to know that "Bud" Buell, former Janesville high school boy, who is now living in Washington, D. C., is starring with the Washington Y. M. C. A. basketball team. "Bud" is playing center and according to newspaper reports has developed into a wonder. In a recent game with the Technical high school his shooting in the last period was mainly responsible for his team emerging the victor by the close score of 17 to 16.

"Bud" as he was familiarly known throughout the city, is a son of former Superintendent I. C. Buell of this city. Mr. Buell was also in charge of the school for the deaf at Delavan, but resigned some time ago to take up a war position in the city of Washington.

JANESVILLE HIGHS TO TAKE ON OREGON AT BASKETBALL, FRIDAY

Coach Embree's Basketball Team Rounding Into Shape For Contest.

Oregon high school will play in Janesville on Friday night, in place of the locals going to Evansville to take on the Cutoff City team. The Evansville game was cancelled on account of the epidemic of influenza.

Oregon's strength is unknown, but in past years it has always presented a formidable aggregation. As a certain rumor to the big game of the evening, two teams composed of high school boys will clash. Several of these boys have been practicing with the first team, so that a speedy game is expected.

Coach Embree's first team is still hard at work, bolstering up on the weak points that were evident in the two preceding games. Road will continue to cover the pivot point, with Captain Sprackling and Nuzum in the forward combination. Powers, Decker and Fisher are still holding down the guard jobs.

FAST ELGIN TEAM HERE THIS EVENING

"Barefoot" Adams and His Wrecking Crew Will Play Lakota Cardinals At Armory Tonight. "Red" Connell Will Play With Cards.

What promises to be a game fully as thrilling as the one last Wednesday evening will be staged by the Lakota Cardinals this evening when they meet the "Elgins" headed by "Barefoot" Adams. The Elgins have won every game so far this season and are already counting on the mid-western championship. The team is composed of former college stars and with Adams as their chief they have been winning every game by a safe margin.

With "Red" Connell and Casserly of Madison in the line up the Cards should be a decidedly improved team over last week. Many of the opinion that the Lakotas had a team that should easily beat the average quintet.

"Red" Connell the only rival "Motsey" Dalton ever had in these parts will don a Card uniform for the first time this season. "Red" is a student at the University of Wisconsin and is practicing against every night. Casserly's running mate performed in this city last week with the Olympics and displayed a wonderful exhibition of basketball.

Casserly knows the game, having played it for a number of years and he is also a sure shot. "Soup" Murphy the old reliable is showing better form each game and is rapidly regaining his old stride. When in form Murphy is a player who is a terror to any team and has to be watched at all times.

With a victory over the Chicago J. A. C. by a safe margin the Elgins are coming to Janesville fully determined to leave here with another win tucked away. They are not even figuring on losing and all indications are that they will be a sad but wise bunch after the game this evening.

Captain Victor Hemming is confident of victory and with the men all in form the game should go to the Elgins. The Cardinals lost their initial game of the season to a team that has been playing for six weeks on an average of four nights a week. The Camp Grant organization was one of the best teams ever seen in this city and it is the one desire of the Cardinals to get them on the local floor again.

The line up of the two teams follows: Lakotas: Adams, 1; Barrage, 1; McKinley, 1; Hager, 1; Pfeig, 1; Brown, 1; Doeratz, 1; Helsa, 1. Elgins: Hager, 5; Barrage, 2; Pfeig, 1; Brown, 1; Doeratz, 1; Helsa, 1; Ritzig, 1; Shaw, 1. Referee: Physical Director Craig.

CHAMPION HARNESS HORSE OF THIS SEASON DID NOT PERFORM ON THE GRAND CIRCUIT.

All the stars in the harness firmament do not necessarily shine on the Grand Circuit. Occasionally some minor circuit steals a little of the big ring's thunder and this year the Great Western Circuit took the honors, and a world's champion from the big line.

The horse in question is none other than the wonderful pacer Red Bear, 2:03 1/4, which won thirteen consecutive races during the 1918 season and won each and every race without losing a heat. This is a world's record, never having been equaled before by any other horse, either trotter or pacer.

Red Bear's races and the class of horses he met indicate that he is a horse of superlative class. He paced the Mrs. McInnes, Ia., half-mile track in 2:03 1/4, won the $1,500 stake at Lincoln, Neb., lowered the track record to 2:10 at Marshalltown, Ia., and was the only horse to beat the great pacer Red Richmond, 2:01 1/4, during the 1918 season. All his other performances were equally important.

Red Bear is a handsome bay horse foaled in 1911 and he is by Cupbearer out of Zenobia, by the famous western sire Red Medium, which sired June Red, Pop Geers best bet this season. Red Bear was bred by Lu Green, Jr., of Indianapolis, Ill.

He will change hands in the very near future, and it is confidently expected that his new owner will stake him on the Grand Circuit in 1919. If he comes back to his 1918 form some of the good things that Murphy, Cox and others are saying will have their work cut out for them.

CONGS BEAT BAPTIST FIVE COPPING FIRST POSITION IN LEAGUE

Only Three More Games Remain in First Round of Tourney—Tournament Dinner, Feb. 5.

Championship honors in the church league bowling tournament are now held by the Congregationalists by virtue of their 249 pin victory over the Baptists at the "X" alleys last night. With only three more games on the schedule for the first round of the tournament it is apparent that the Congs with their record of 5 victories and no defeats have first place clinched.

It was the first defeat of the season for the Baptists and dropped them into second position in the league. The Congs showed great form last evening while the bowling of their opponents was somewhat erratic. Merrick with 188 was high man. The scores follow:

Baptists
Erickson	152	154	163
Crissey	130	134	96

Get 7 Per Cent for YOUR Money

We are selling "across the counter" direct to Milwaukee and Wisconsin people an issue of $3,600,000 of 7%, 5-year, bond-secured Gold Notes of The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company. More than a million dollars' worth of the Notes have been bought in the first 30 days, mostly by Milwaukee people who know the Company and the property.

Issuance and sale of these Notes was authorized by the Wisconsin Railroad Commission to finance the growth of greater Milwaukee's electric service system.

Principal of the Notes will be repaid in cash Nov. 1, 1923.

These Notes are on sale in $50, $100, $500 and $1,000 sizes. They sell at par. Your Notes start drawing 7% interest for you from the day you buy them. You draw interest twice a year—May 1 and Nov. 1—by simply cutting off your interest coupon, taking it to the nearest bank, and getting cash for it. These Notes are readily saleable in case of need.

Milwaukee is as solidly prosperous as any city in the world. This Company supplies virtually all of Milwaukee's electric power, light, heat and transportation services. The State-appraised value of the property back of the Notes exceeds funded debt by over $16,000,000. The State rate regulation law assures a reasonable yearly return on State-appraised value. Besides being a general obligation of The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company, these Notes are further secured by deposit of $4,500,000 of 40-year bonds of the Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Company with the First Trust Company of Milwaukee as Trustee for the Note buyers. These Companies, thus joint guarantors of these Notes, during their twenty-two years in business have never failed to pay on the due date every dollar of their obligations, with interest as agreed.

Is YOUR MONEY earning 7% with equal SAFETY? If not, we shall be glad to sell you some of these Notes.

Janesville buyers and vicinity are ASKED TO ORDER FROM THE MERCHANTS & SAVINGS BANK OR DIRECT FROM THE COMPANY. Address: SECURITIES DEPARTMENT, Public Service Building, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. You can send payment with order, or, if you wish it, we will deliver the Notes in care of your home bank, C. O. D. The Milwaukee banks have bought hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of these Notes, for themselves and their customers.

CAPITAL SOCIETY
WELCOMES MATRON

Mrs. Preston Gibson.

Mrs. Preston Gibson, former wife of the well-known Washington society man, is again making her home in the capital, where her beauty and her jewels are almost equally famous. She is the granddaughter of the late Senator James McMillan of Michigan.

PROPAGANDA AND THE ANSWER

"On Saturday the World published a front page article with a Copenhagen side-head, and a Berlin odor. Reading it, one can almost hear Mark Antony, as he called to this people, 'if you have tears, prepare to shed them now. Germany, we are informed.'

"Is like a child, cherishing little or no wounded pride or enduring resentment. It has great faith in President Wilson, and turns to America with confidence. It cannot see that it was wrong in the war; for our part, as grown-ups dealing with children, the matter is hardly worth discussion," says the Wall Street Journal.

"Little children, after a heavy rain, take off their shoes and paddle in the gutter. They see no harm in it. These gentle, loving, childlike Germans washed their hands in the blood of millions of women and children; they waded and paddled in it; for four years the earth resounded with their joyous shouts as they played and wallowed in the stream, and their little boats upon it, or bridged it with human skulls.

"But now, who can resist these grown-up children that so confidently put their hands in that of America, and with trembling lips look up to her with great, pleading eyes? Bit-terest agony covers a part of Europe like a pall; hardly a corner of the world that does not mourn Germany is unconscious of wrong, and stern punishment would be futile." Germany turns to America with confidence.

"Why?"

"It needs certain foods quickly. Industries need the assurance of raw materials."

"It is a relief to turn from such to the telegram of Herbert Hoover, when informed that two of these gentle German children had been appointed to negotiate with him for food."

He said: "You can describe two and a half years of arrogance toward ourselves and cruelty to the Belgians in any language you may select and tell the pair personally to go to hell with my compliments."

"The language fits the occasion. One of that pair is the famous von der Lancken who led to Edward Whitehead while the murder of Edith Cavell was being consummated. The other was the Dr. Reith whom Belgians will execrate to the end of time. Mr. Hoover knows Germany and the Germans through two and a half years' acquaintance with them. By their conduct toward him they proved the sincerity of their determination, expressed to Whitehead, to starve the Belgians. They carried out the same policy in Poland and Armenia. Mr. Hoover's words sound good. America should not listen to a propaganda of tears. It is the voice of Satan in the form of Niobe."
